SUBJECT: December 10 HPSCI Briefing

With the Thanksgiving Recess over, the weekly HPSCI current events briefings have resumed. Dick Kerr is scheduled to give the next one on 10 December. Many of the issues we proposed for the canceled 3 December session are still valid. We will need talking points no later than Monday morning on the following topics. Please include the analyst's name and secure phone number on the submissions so that we can easily follow up if need be.

NESA

Egypt: A post-mortem of the hijacking; Egypt-Libyan tensions; impact on relations in the area and with the US; Mubarak's standing at home.

Israel: Domestic politics in the wake of the spying episode.

Libya: Update on the status of SA-5 deliveries.

OEA

Philippines: The reaction to the Ver verdict; update the election story and comment on opposition slate.

South Korea: Assessment of the pressures that seem to be mounting against the government.

OGI

Terrorism: Details and assessment of the rise in terrorism in Europe.

ALA

Angola: Is there any evidence of a possible pickup in the fighting?

Of course, we would appreciate talking points on any other significant events that may occur between now and next Tuesday morning. Dick will be leaving for the briefing at 8:00 Tuesday morning.
